Blames City Council

CUFA plans to end services

BY DALE GOWING
Of The Roman Staff

Transportation, job referral and family planning services, provided for Romulus residents for the past three years by Communities United for Action (CUFA), will be reduced by about 50 percent starting Monday and will end completely Feb. 21.

The reduction of services comes as a result of the Romulus City Council's failure to allocate $19,393 to continue the non-profit public service program in the city until June 30, a CUFA official said.

CUFA has operated in eight Wayne County communities since its creation three years ago, but three of the communities have not pledged money to keep the services active through the remainder of the fiscal year.

The federal government pays 80 percent of its operating expenses, and until last June the county paid the other 20 percent. At that time, however, the county decided the eight communities should pay the 20 percent instead.

Donald Wrench, CUFA's executive director, said the Romulus City Council has known since last April that city funding would be necessary to keep CUFA operating here, but has not taken official action to deny or approve the funding.

Wrench estimated that "three or four" warnings had been given the council that CUFA's services would be withdrawn from the city, if the funding did not come.

He added that services in Romulus must be decreased and eventually ended because "we have to increase the services in the other cities which are providing money."

Those communities include Taylor, Sumpter Township, River Rouge, Ecorse, Highland Park and Hamtramck. Inkster also has not funded the program.

Wrench said 377 persons were served by CUFA in Romulus in December 1974, and called that an average monthly total.

Among the services provided are family planning, job referral, transportation of senior citizens and low income persons to hospitals, doctors' offices and shopping centers. CUFA also sponsors a training program for school dropouts, aged 16-21.

Wrench said the yearly budget for operation in Romulus is $114,965, and that all but the $19,393 is paid by the federal government. He added that the council was last confronted Jan. 7, but did not act then.

CUFA's executive committee, voted last Wednesday to "immediately begin phasing out service in Romulus as needed to reach a cutoff date of Feb. 21," Wrench continued.

Romulus officials numerous times since last April have requested that CUFA not discontinue services in the city, but the organization no longer can operate here without assurance of receiving the money, he said.

Letters to Mayor Terry L. Troutt and other officials warning them of the "phase-out" of services produced no results, he added.

Should the City Council decide to allocate the money, the services quickly will be restored to their original level, Wrench said.

Council President Beverly McAnally said the council's reasons for not approving the allocation appear to be (1) the amount of the allocation needed and (2) lack of evidence that CUFA is "necessary" in Romulus.

"It's my own evaluation that the council would like to continue it, if Romulus' portion was substantially lower and it could be proved that CUFA is necessary," she added.

Mrs. McAnally said the council apparently is not impressed with the transportation efforts being made by CUFA or the effectiveness of its family planning program.

She added that the allocation was not included in the city budget, approved last June.

Burglary story prompts two confessions and tips

By DALE GOWING
Of The Roman Staff

At least two confessions and numerous tips have been given federal and county law enforcement agents since a story appeared in The Romulus Roman detailing the investigation of a countywide burglary ring.

Stemming from the burglary ring is a stolen firearms trafficking operation, the alleged leader of which was arrested two weeks ago.

A Wayne County Sheriff's Department detective, who asked to remain anonymous, said the investigation of the burglary ring has been "spreading and spreading" since last week's newspaper article. At least two juveniles have confessed to participating in the burglaries and numerous other persons have offered tips and information, he added.

"The article has helped the case tremendously," the detective said. "A couple of the juveniles read it and wanted to confess before we got them."

"We have gotten information and leads from several other people. We're in the middle of it now."

The detective said two other adults, believed to be key accomplices of the "ringleader" arrested two weeks ago, have been arrested in connection with the case. Officials declined to release the names of those arrested since it might jeopardize the investigation.

The alleged ringleader of both the burglary and firearms trafficking operations is a 25-year-old Romulus resident. Police call him a "big time dealer" of illegal firearms.

The detective said the crime ring involves from 15 to 20 persons in Western Wayne County.

The investigation is being conducted by the detectives and agents from the U.S. Treasury Department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (ATF). They contend the Romulus suspect is the head of the ring which steals firearms, in particular, and sells them on the streets and to "dealers."

The agents said the man, reportedly a fugitive from a Maine prison camp, has admitted to committing 90 burglaries in Western Wayne and Wastebaw counties since last August.

They added that the burglary ring has operated extensively in Romulus, Wayne, Westland, Garden City and Canton Township, and estimate that from 150 to 200 breakins have been pulled by the group.

And police offer hints to prevent burglaries

With law enforcement agents working to crack an area burglary ring, there are numerous suggestions they are making to residents to prevent home burglaries.

Some of them are:

—When you are going to be away from home for any length of time, ask a neighbor to take your newspapers off the front porch each day. A collection of papers tip off would-be burglars of your absence.

—Always leave at least one light on when away. It is wise to buy a few "timers" which will alternate the lights each night. If the same light is on repeatedly that also is a tip to burglars that the house probably is empty.

—Ask a neighbor to shovel the snow from your driveway or run his car up it occasionally to make tracks. Unshoveled snow generally is a giveaway to your absence.

—during the warmer seasons, ask a neighbor to mow your grass, so it doesn't become long and ragged, often an invitation to burglars.

—Before leaving on a trip, notify the Wayne County Sheriff's Department. It will try to keep a closer watch on your home while you're gone.

—Make sure the locks on all windows and doors are adequate and strong. If not, have new ones installed.

Officials criticize truck depots

Building, zoning violations cited

By DALE GOWING
Of The Roman Staff

A segment of Romulus' eastern fringes, reportedly fast becoming a haven for trucking terminals, is a detriment to the city in some officials' estimation.

Often constructed cheaply and in violation of city building and zoning ordinances, the terminals are not a boost to the city's economy and allegedly cause traffic headaches, they say.

The city's dislike of the area's development trends has resulted in legal action against the trucking firms to stop their business operations until the codes are met.

Until two weeks ago, the only legal action needed to convince three firms to conform to regulations was the issuance of violation tickets. But another firm apparently didn't heed a warning and wound up in Wayne County Circuit Court.

The case against the firm ended last week when Judge George E. Bowles ordered owner Dale G. Kennedy to halt operations until certain ordinances are met.

Kennedy called his firm at 6861 Middlebelt Road "Cartage Dispatch," although the name was not registered with the state.

Judge Bowles closed down the firm because it hadn't constructed an adequate parking lot, did not put fencing around the premises and used a mobile trailer as an office.

City Attorney William S. Munger said the firm's building permit called for a permanent terminal building to be constructed.

The area dotted with trucking terminals is bounded by Middlebelt, Beverly and Ecorse roads, Munger added.

A major problem caused by the numerous trucks entering and leaving the area is their interference with traffic, which he said could result in the city changing certain zoning codes to require trucking firms install acceleration and deceleration lanes on the main roads.

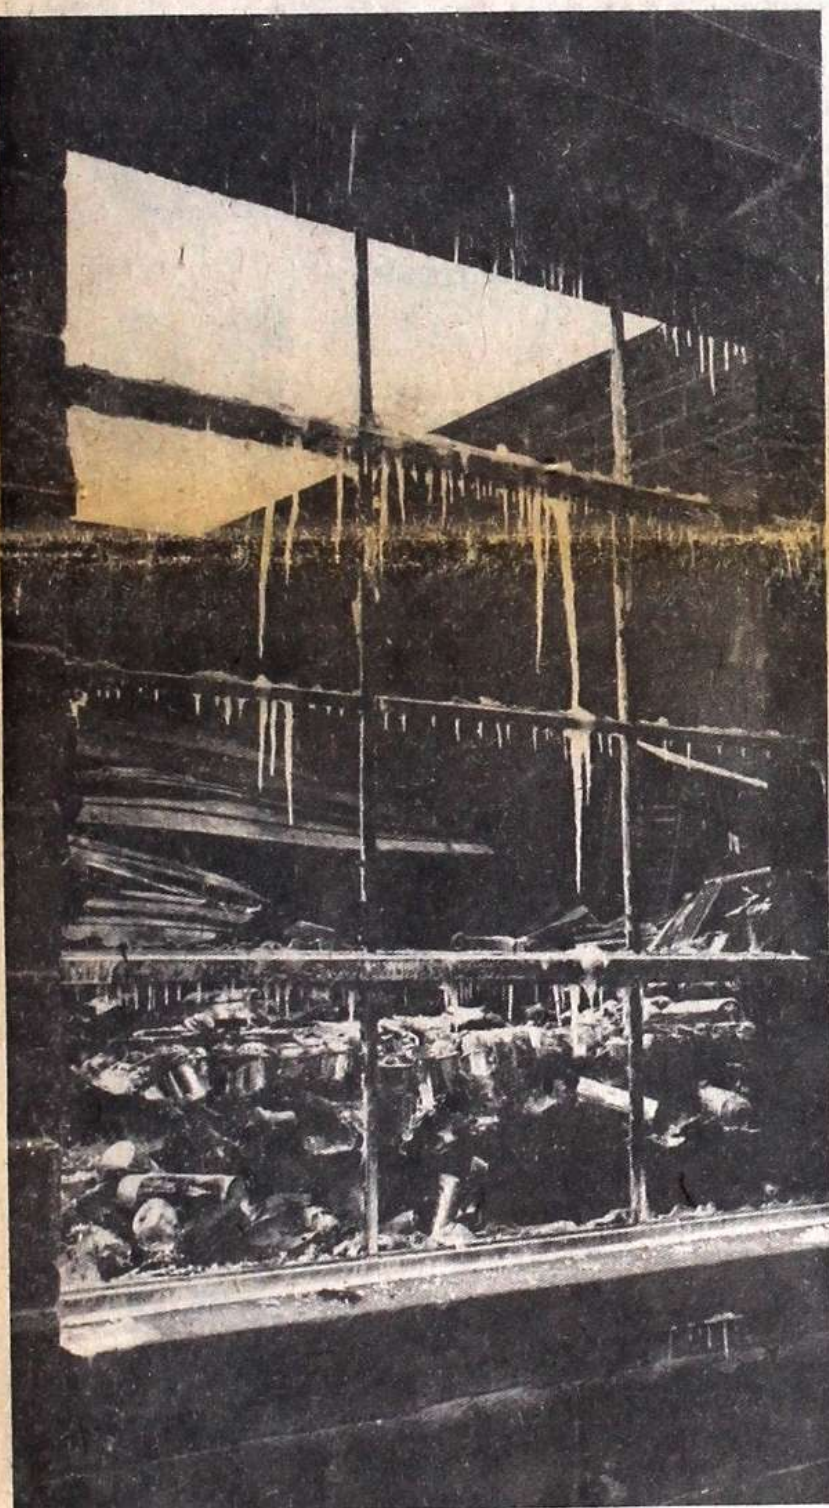

"Because of the accessibility to the airport and expressway system, these firms are making a home out of Romulus," Munger continued. "They move in apparently thinking they will make their own laws."

Mayor Terry L. Troutt added that he equally is disturbed by the situation. "The area is growing so fast with traffic and the trucks just make it worse," he said. "These trucking companies are no asset to the community. They have a low tax input, but create big traffic loads."

"Obtaining the court injunction was important to us because the whole section rapidly is turning into a terminal area."

Troutt added the needed zoning changes from M-1 (light industrial) to M-2 (heavy industrial) would force the firms to set up shop on larger parcels of land. Due to the shortage of that land, the firms would have to go elsewhere.

Burnt remains

Charred brick, broken glass and ice was all that remained after fire fighters fought a chemical fire at 30105 Beverly Road in Romulus early this week. The blaze destroyed a furniture warehouse and damaged two other businesses in the same structure. See related story on Page A-3. — The Romulus Roman photo.

Paving to start

The paving of 16 miles of Romulus streets and roads, begun last summer and fall, will resume as soon as the ground dries, officials say.

The paving, about two-thirds of which is completed, cannot be resumed until existing gravel roadbeds are sufficiently dry, according to City Engineer Gary Kelly.

Only gravel roads are being paved. The current program does not involve resurfacing of already-paved roads.

Kelly said there is an asphalt base on 15 to 30 percent of the gravel roads scheduled for paving and added that nothing is completed.

The Belleville contracting firm of Thompson-McCulley is doing the $1,100,000 project, Kelly said.

For operating tax

Voters face millage request

By HENRY CANTIN
Of The Roman Staff
Voters in the Romulus
Community School District

will be asked to approve a 9-mill assessment renewal in a special election scheduled for April 14.

An administrative request to present the millage proposal to the voters and the election date was approved by the Romulus Board of Education at its Monday night meeting.

Romulus School Supt. Robert L. McConeghy said the 9-mill operating tax levy expires with the collection of the 1974 school property taxes.

The millage renewal proposition will be for a 5-year period, 1975 through 1979. It represents approximately $2 million of the operating budget of the school district.

The district's current school property tax assessment totals 33.65 mills ($33.65) per $1,000 of state equalized property valuation. Of the total millage, 27.65 mills is for operating expenses, McConeghy said.

In other matters the Board of Education awarded bids for the purchase of seven school buses and a tractor.

The bid received for seven bus chassis was awarded to Jerry Biefield Co. of Detroit at a total cost of $45,094 plus trade-ins.

The bid received for the school bus body contract was awarded to Great Lakes Coach Sales Co. of Dearborn at a total cost of $51,000.

William F. Sell & Son Co. of Taylor was awarded the tractor sales contract on a bid of $6,867.

The board also awarded a bid on the roof repairs at South Junior High School and bus garage.

A bid proposal submitted by Chaffee Roofing Co. of Ferndale in the amount of $2,876 was approved.

New building program may begin in Romulus

The City of Romulus plans to hire consultant architectural and engineering firms to design a program of constructing some new municipal buildings, with at least one new fire station as the top priority.

The Romulus City Council has stamped its tentative approval on Mayor Terry L. Troutt's request to transfer about $25,000 from the city's general fund to its capital improvement budget, to pay for the architectural and engineering services.

Final approval was expected to come at last night's council meeting.

Troutt said the plan for the new buildings would be drawn up with the anticipation that the federal government soon will allocate additional money to cities for the purpose of improving city buildings and constructing new ones.

Troutt added that he is confident the government will allocate the funds, although he doesn't know how much.

The city regards at least one new fire station as a "must" in the near future, Troutt said, adding that Wayne County wants to buy the existing Eureka Road facility from the city to facilitate growth of the county-owned Detroit Metropolitan Airport southward.

Troutt said that station would have to be replaced and added that he would like to see an additional one built.

Other building priorities include a new 34th District Court, a library "sub-station" and a "public community building," according to Troutt.

The mayor said he had gotten the impression from Cong. William D. Ford (D-15th District) that allocating money for public buildings will be the "next step" in the grant program.

'Gripe nights' to visit schools

In an effort to spur public interest in the City of Romulus' monthly Citizens Complaint Nights, the City Council will begin holding the meetings at various schools around the city.

The first meeting under the new format tentatively is scheduled for Feb. 12 at Cory Elementary School, 35200 Smith Road. The March complaint night will be at either Gordonier or Beverly elementary schools, with a final announcement to come the first week in March, said Council President Beverly McAnally.

In the past, the complaint nights have been conducted in City Hall. Poor citizen turnouts, however, forced the council into setting up the new format in which the meetings will be "brought to the people."

The meeting at Cory School will begin at 8 p.m.

Judge delays airport ruling

U.S. District Court Judge Cornelia G. Kennedy has delayed for perhaps a month her decision in the injunction suit between Wayne County and Romulus, against runway expansion at the county-run Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

The hearing concluded

Saturday after a Friday cancellation. Judge Kennedy decided to postpone her ruling on the case indefinitely. Some observers say that it could be as long as a month.

The judge had been expected to make an immediate decision.

Chemical fire rages 9 hours

A warehouse fire, fed by window-cleaning chemicals, raged for nine hours in Romulus before Romulus, Wayne and Taylor firefighters were able to bring it under control.

The blaze, which destroyed the building at 30105 Beverly Road near Middle Belt Road, did an estimated $185,000 worth of damage to three businesses within the structure.

No one was injured. Fire fighters from all four Romulus stations and one in Taylor were called to the scene at 10:41 p.m. Sunday and left at 7:47 a.m. Monday, according to the official report.

Housed in the building were two warehouses — Crown Furniture and Crest Chemicals—and a small office registered to Astro Freight Co., according to Romulus Fire Chief John Wilhide.

He said the cause of the blaze has not been determined, but added that arson has not been ruled out.

Wilhide added that the highly-flammable chemicals stored in the Crest warehouse burst into flames and eventually collapsed the roof, hindering firefighters in their efforts to put out the blaze.

Wilhide said the building's tenants all had fire insurance.

With Goldilocks, the bears

TV NEWS: Call it entertainment

By JIM CARAVALLAH
Of the Enterprise-Roman Staff

There's nothing more disgusting to a newspaper reporter than watching television news. It's not because television is inferior to newspapers as an information medium, but because television news has changed into a form of entertainment.

Every night, my wife forces me to watch Goldilocks and the Three Bears perform on one channel. The cast of the news program consists of Goldilocks in a serious demeanor which features twice each show, reading the "important" news while Papa Bear and Momma Bear flit off screen.

When the times comes, Papa Bear gets to read the second most important story while Momma Bear stands off screen with her hands clasped to her heart holding a piece of chalk awaiting her cue to perform the weather.

Off to the side, down at the far end is Cynical Bear, practicing his twisted grin he uses during his telecast of the latest sports news.

Now, Goldilocks and the Three Bears aren't the only characters on this television news program. There's also Snowwhite and the Seven Dwarfs doing the field work for the newscast.

Snowwhite is a former model who is sent to important stories so she can be photographed looking serious while a news source talks.

Then there's Dopey, who goes about the metropolitan Detroit area each week to perform real work as part of his entertainment duties.

Grumpy is the investigative reporter famous for a recent story which showed the exteriors of buildings in Detroit and Southfield while he narrated the journeys of a former numbers runner.

Bashful generally is assigned to ethnic stories, narrating them in her mumbling voice while the camera focuses scenes of human squalor and her tearful face.

Doc is the other woman of the news team, the token women's liberationist who makes her voice gravelly to enforce the idea that she's a tough news person. She gets to cover shopping center openings and garbage strikes. And then there's Sleepy, the "grand old man" of the staff who narrates one story a month while doubling as Sunday's commentator.

Sneezy is the guy who gets clever on the job, narrating in his own voice while the camera focuses on a donkey — a fitting performance for TV news.

And finally, Happy is the guy who shouldn't be, because he held Papa Bear's job until Papa Bear was brought in to flirt with Momma Bear off camera.

Television news wouldn't seem so bad to me if I had not personally covered stories jointly with Snowwhite and some of the Seven Dwarfs.

I saw Snowwhite in Romulus, during an emotional hearing on the expansion of Detroit Metropolitan Airport. She sat in a chair turning down requests for autographs until it came time for the "on the spot shot" for her story. The camera went in front of the meeting and she took notes for two minutes to look busy in the bright lights.

Sneezy has handled a couple of stories, including one dealing with ambulance services.

The dramatic ending he dreamed up for his ambulance story was being carried from the vehicle on a stretcher while he narrated his findings.

And then, there's Dopey, who showed up at another meeting which took me three hours to cover.

One-half hour after the meeting began, he wandered in, smiled at those who recognized his starlit face, and wandered out.

One hour later, his camera crew came in, taking pictures in the meeting place. Then, just 15 minutes before the end of the meeting, Dopey wandered in again.

He got his "on the spot shot" taken during the closing remarks to prove he covered the full story, and then cornered some officials to get their opinions before announcing his own in the end.

I've watched as Papa Bear commented on the news, forming an opinion while not having his facts straight.

I've seen Momma Bear narrate the weather while Papa Bear clutches his hands to his chest in adoration. She is very adept at maneuvering the smiling yellow faces which represent the sun.

I hear that Goldilocks will be leaving the stellar cast—not because he's upset over the coverage, but because he'll get more money. And he'll be replaced by The Lone Ranger—star of stage, screen and white hats on another channel.

There will be no change. The Lone Ranger fits the role of the stoic commentator who manages to laugh twice during a newscast.

The only "extra" he'll bring is the "light moment" joke at the end of the news show.

He'll fit right in because Papa Bear made a name for himself by being able to offer a loud chortle at the end of every joke on another station.

Don't be fooled, though. That laugh's written into the script.

We must face the facts

Energy use isn't American birth right

By BOB BERG,
Enterprise-Roman Lansing Bureau Chief

One of the real problems Americans are having in facing the energy shortage is the assumption so many make that our current standard of living is a God-given right.

The America of two cars per family, central heating and air conditioning, automatic dishwashers, large refrigerators and freezers and heated swimming pools is based on the availability of cheap energy. Most of us have never known a world without corner gas stations, electricity in every room and natural gas for every house.

Yet the truth is that this is all a very recent phenomenon which developed in the last 50 years. It didn't come as a birth right, but rather as the result of a remarkable explosion of technological knowledge.

When gasoline prices edged more than 50 cents per gallon, the outcry was universal. People were being deprived. While the rest of the world had paid gasoline prices as much as five or six times higher than this country for years, we were outraged at 50 cents a gallon. Offer that to a German, Italian or Swede and he'd buy all he could and brag about the incredible bargain he had received.

When electrical or gas rates go up, again the cry is heard that the poor American is being picked on. Yet if you were to go to just about any other country of the world and offer the residents housing with central heat and cooling, a stove, dishwasher, refrigerator and freezer all for 5 to 10 per cent of their salary they would assume they had died and gone to heaven.

Lost in all this is the fact that electricity must be manufactured and the natural gas must be extracted from the ground. It doesn't magically appear in the wall socket or at the basement furnace.

Perhaps it's time to do some re-educating of the American people to remind them just what their economy is based on and how far things have developed so quickly.

There is a series right now on the Public Broadcast System which does an admirable job of doing this. It was put together and narrated by Dr. Jacob Bronowski, an Englishman who died last August. Dr. Bronowski had the ability to take history and science and make them a fascinating subject for the proverbial average television viewer.

The series is called "The Ascent of Man."

A recent segment dealt with man's transition from the nomadic life to a stationary life. It got back to the basics, explaining how man's transition to a life based on farming was made possible by two genetic accidents which produced today's wheat plant.

Two things were necessary for the start of the first city known to man, Jericho, in the Middle East some 12,000 years ago, he said. They were a water supply and wheat. No gas stations. No paved streets. No neon lights and quick food restaurants.

In the millions of years man has been on this planet, it's only been the last 12,000 that he settled down in one spot and started to build cities.

When this country was being founded there were no super highways, no cross continent jet flights, no electrically controlled thermostats providing even heat to a building. America was an agricultural country.

Even today the entire economy is based on agriculture. It's just that modern technology has made it possible for a very small segment of the population to feed everybody.

And much of that technology is based on the availability of cheap, abundant energy. In the days of the horse and buggy, the only "fuel" needed to farm was corn, oats or hay for the horses. Now it takes gasoline or diesel fuel for the tractors and harvesters, natural gas to manufacture fertilizer, electricity or natural gas to run the huge grain dryers.

The point to all this is that energy is not guaranteed to us either by God or the Constitution. We have used up the cheapest sources of energy — the shallowest oil deposits, the shallowest coal deposits — and future supplies are going to cost more. Mankind existed for years without snowmobiles and heated swimming pools.

It isn't easy, of course, to do without things you are used to or to have to dig deeper in the pocketbook to pay for them. But the choice is not whether to pay; the choice is, to paraphrase a television commercial, whether to pay a little more now or a lot more later.

And as far as complaining too bitterly about 55 mile per hour speed limits or 65 degree thermostat settings is concerned, if you think that represents great hardship take a look at some of the pictures coming out of India, Bangladesh and northern Africa. Those people are dying from starvation. They'd love to be able to drive 55 miles per hour and pay rising electric bills.

As we see it

Council does good job

The saga of the Norfolk and Western (N&W) Railroad crossing threat just goes to show what the residents of the City of Romulus can do, working with the City Council.

The N&W threat to close the train crossing at Romaine Street between Perry Street and Goddard Road upset many area residents who use Romaine daily and would be inconvenienced by the closing of the through road. These residents complained loudly to the Romulus City Council and asked for help to keep the street open.

Working for the best interest of the residents of Romulus, in this instance, the City Council adopted a resolution opposing the closing, and that resolution apparently caused N&W to back off on its plans and possibly abandon them completely.

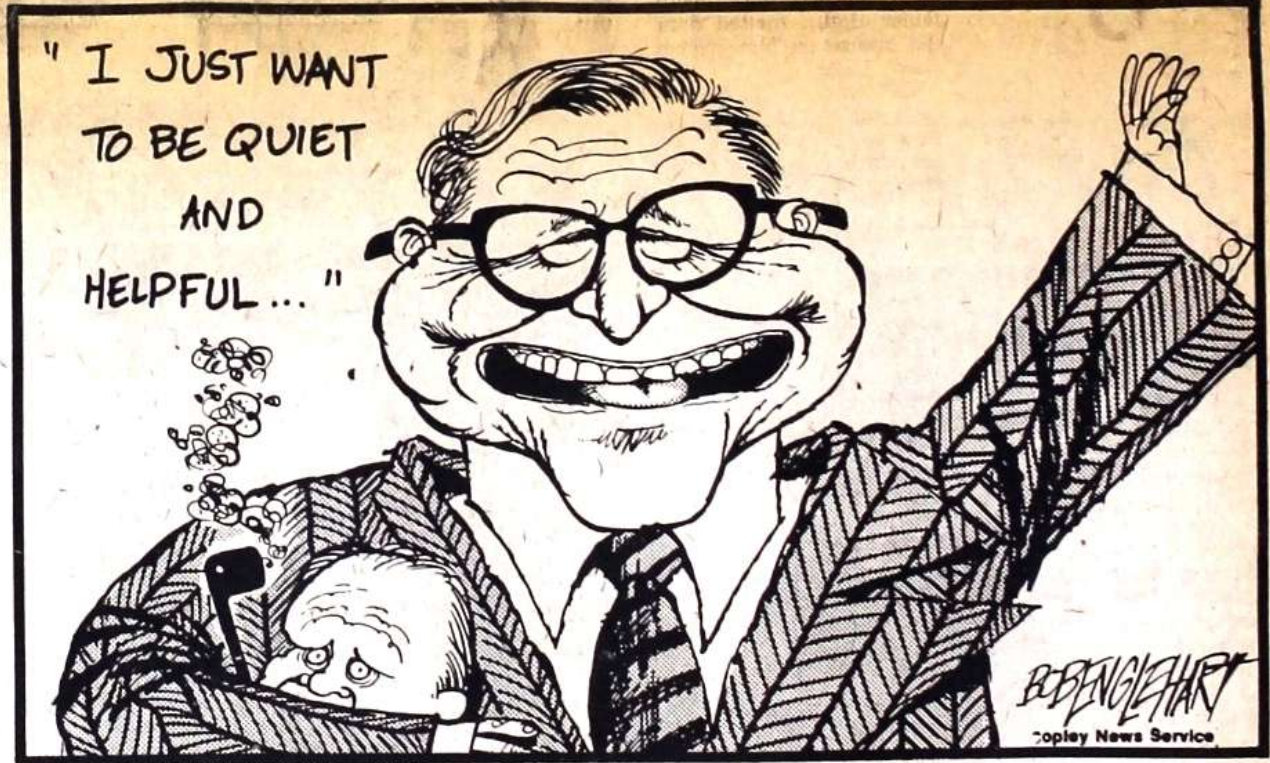

We commend the Romulus City Council for its quick action in this case, and urge councilmen to continue to work with the citizens to make Romulus a better place to live.

The thing that makes the saga of the N&W train crossing so interesting, is that the city actually can't stop N&W from closing the crossing. If it so desired, N&W could petition the Michigan Public Service Commission for a hearing on the case.

But for the time being, N&W has decided to drop its plans because it doesn't want a hassle with the city.

Residents in the community should be proud that the City Council took positive action on an issue. To continue its growth and remain strong, the City of Romulus needs a strong council to make decisions for the betterment of the community.

Perspective from Africa

Political heavyweights hold peace key

By TOM OCHILTREE

Enterprise-Roman Washington Bureau
CAPE TOWN, Republic of South Africa — Two contrasting political heavyweights hold the key to whether the southern African subcontinent will have peace and growing prosperity or find itself plunged into the endless horrors of racial warfare.

Southern Africa stands at the crossroads. The route it takes will depend in large measure on the statecraft and patience of John Vorster, prime minister of the white-ruled Republic of South Africa, and Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia.

Both men realize the awesome responsibility resting on their shoulders. Carefully they have sounded each other out in an attempt to find some area of agreement. Up to now, however, they have only succeeded in revealing to the world the towering difficulties standing in the way of a solution.

Vorster and Kaunda — what contrasting types they are! Prime minister since 1966, Vorster brings to politics none of the crowd pleasing theatrical tricks so many other leaders use. A dour, no nonsense approach constitutes his style.

The more dramatic Kaunda is something of a fire eater. He also may be the shrewdest black leader in Africa

The Enterprise-Roman Washington Bureau Chief Tom Ochiltree spent three weeks in Africa following the South African crisis in the United Nations to update the perspective for our readers and readers of other Panax Newspapers.

The last of his 4-part series is being published today.

when it comes to judging the climate of international opinion.

The dogs of war were straining at the leash last spring when Portugal's African Empire began to crumble, but the violence was restrained — a sort of negative accomplishment for the voices of reason.

Noting the development of a hopeful atmosphere, South Africans pointed particularly to what they described as Vorster's "verligte (enlightened) speech."

In it he promised his government would strive for peace and cooperation with its African neighbors but emphasized that the Republic of South Africa has a historic right to be viewed as a true African state with a vital leadership role to play in the development of the subcontinent.

Reacting promptly to Vorster's speech, Kaunda declared:

"This is the voice of reason for which Africa and the world have waited for many years..."

"We do not question the rights of the whites in South Africa. What is at issue is their claim to have the right to dominate others on the basis of colors."

Vorster, responding to Kaunda, said: "I welcome any initiative which will lead to the de-escalation of conflict in southern Africa in accordance with the standpoint taken by me in my speech to the state."

These comments tipped off the South African press to recent secret contacts involving officials of South Africa and Zambia.

While there still is a long road to travel, some surprising progress already has been made in topping the shooting in the southern portion of Africa.

Prime Minister Ian Smith of white-ruled Rhodesia has announced a ceasefire with the black guerrillas who have been making raids around the borders of his landlocked country. Smith also has ordered the release of all African political prisoners held by his regime.

Both moves are designed to clear the way for a constitutional conference designed to restore outcast Rhodesia to the family of nations. On orders from the United Nations, Rhodesia has been shunned by everyone but South Africa since Smith's government declared its independence from Britain nine years ago.

Smith's tension easy actions coincided with Vorster's decision to withdraw South Africa's paramilitary police units from Rhodesia once the ceasefire is seen to be working. Some 2,000 of those police have been helping patrol Rhodesia's frontiers.

Kaunda, for his part, has assured Smith that guerrilla activity in Rhodesia would cease immediately. He also has agreed that the proposed constitutional convention would take place without any preconditions. Originally, Kaunda had demanded that Rhodesia recognize the principle of immediate majority rule.

Settlement of the Rhodesian question could clear the deck for consideration of another equally thorny issue — the future of South West Africa, which black nationalists refer to as Namibia.

Kaunda has called for an end to South

African authority over South West Africa and for acceptance of United Nations (UN) decisions designed to provide complete independence for that arid region. Vorster has proposed that the people there be given an opportunity to work out their future for themselves.

Rotary Club prepares to observe anniversary

Plans for the observance of the 70th anniversary of Rotary were among various matters discussed at a recent meeting-dinner of the Belleville Rotary Club.

The Rotary anniversary is to be held on Feb. 23 this year. Rotary clubs throughout the country are making elaborate plans for the occasion, it was reported.

Bill Ives, past district governor of Michigan Rotary District 640, was the principal guest speaker at the club's meeting. He spoke on the Rotary foundation.

Other recent speakers were Len Melnick of the Romulus Help Center who spoke of the facility's assistance to people in crisis situations and job placement; and Donald Juchartz, director of the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service, who spoke on the history of Detroit and Wayne County.

The Belleville Rotary Club meets at 6:15 p.m. Tuesdays at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville's Fellowship Hall, located at 417 Charles St. in Belleville.

Church youth group to sponsor Honeytree

The Huron Valley Youth for Christ will sponsor the presentation in concert of Honeytree and Good News Circle, two exciting musical sounds at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Pioneer High School Auditorium in Ann Arbor.

"Honeytree is relevant — Honeytree is refreshing. She appeals to young and old alike and above all she has a desire to communicate with her audience," sponsors say.

The Good News Circle is a group of young, dedicated Christians who share a keen interest in both music and Christ. Their presentation includes a package of gospel-folk music and a spoken segment by the team leader, Bob Laurent.

It's never a lengthy, emotion-filled appeal, but a positive challenge to every individual, according to Laurent.

The team said it does not believe Jesus or the Bible need to be defended, but rather, they need to be proclaimed.

The tickets are $1.50 if purchased in advance, $1.75 at the door.

A lot of people have Sentry people. The folks who have all their auto insurance needs handled by us. Sentry Insurance. Why us? For a very good, old fashioned reason. We don't act like a big insurance company even though that's what we are. So our adjusters will get Sentry policyholders a new bumper if the chrome is cracked. We don't just get it straightened and spray some new paint on. Our way of looking at it is: whatever your auto insurance needs are, you're entitled to person-alized protection. The kind of protection an adjuster would want for his own car. See the Sentry man above for all your auto insurance. You'll like his attitude.

A big insurance company doesn't have to act like a big insurance company.

Health committee inducts youngest member

A senior high school girl at Huron School in New Boston has the distinction of being the youngest member of the Huron Township Health Committee in its 20-year history.

She is Lee Ann Piggott, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Shepherd of 3116 Huron River Drive, New Boston.

It all began in the fall of 1973 when a mutual interest developed between the newly-organized vocational health occupations classes at Huron High School and the Huron Health Committee.

During that year, student volunteers assisted in various capacities with the Health Day Clinic and the preparation of Christmas baskets for the needy in the community.

In December, the health occupations classroom took on the appearance of Santa's workshop with students making stuffed animals, restoring used toys, redressing dolls, making original tree decorations and wreaths.

Outside of the classroom, they collected canned goods and money from local residents and businesses to provide groceries for a number of families within the township.

Lee Ann acted as chairman and became so vitally interested in the activities that she not only spent school time, but also volunteered much of her own personal time on the projects and inspired others to work for a worthy cause, according to Roger Benner, community school director for Huron School District, and Joseph Balog, president of the Huron Township Health Committee.

At its December meeting, the Huron Health Committee recognized Lee Ann for her outstanding efforts on behalf of community service by inviting her to become a regular member of this organization with full rights and voting privileges as of Dec. 30.

Among the organization's activities and services are the sponsoring of an annual Health Day, providing a blood unit and furnishing hospital equipment, clothing and other necessities for the needy and the handicapped.

Balog said the Huron Township Health Committee is in need of volunteer mothers.

Any local resident who would be interested in this type of volunteer service to the community is requested to contact Mrs. Balog for further information. She can be reached at 753-9389.

A Personal Sales Award plaque has been presented to a Romulus couple by the Amway Products Corp. of Ada, Mich.

Honored by the international organization were Wayne C. Garnatz and his wife, Sharon, of 9291 Chamberlain St.

The plaque can be earned annually by any of the 200,000 Amway distributors in the United States and Canada by achieving a high personal sales goal.

In presenting the award, Direct Distributor Bea Walker personally congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Garnatz on the performance of their distributorship, giving special recognition to their outstanding sales achievement record.

Draft signup is law

Although inductions are a thing of the past, federal law requires all males in the United States to be registered with the Selective Service within 30 days of the 18th birthday, according to Jacob P. Asma, head of the Allen Park area office.

Registrations are accepted at the office by a volunteer registrar or through the mail, he added.

"A young man required to register can pick up a form mailer at any post office," Asma said. "After completing it he need only fold it and mail it, since the form is pre-addressed and needs no postage."

Forms also are available at the Allen Park Post Office, 10501 Allen Road.

There's never been a better time to buy a new car than right now. Here's why.

1. 1975 cars generally offer better fuel economy than 1971, 1972 or 1973 cars.

2. New maintenance schedules can save you hundreds of dollars. Spark plug life is longer. So are lubrication and oil change intervals.

3. Many important features you once paid extra for as options now come standard in the new '75 cars.

4. In many ways, it's what you can't see "under the skin" — quality, durability, engineering improvements — that make a '75 car a value-holding investment for the future.

5. 42-month installment plans, where available, can reduce your monthly payments.

6. The average monthly auto loan interest charge is only $3 more than it was six years ago.
7. New car price percentage increases are less than upturns in cost of food, clothing and even your local movie theater.

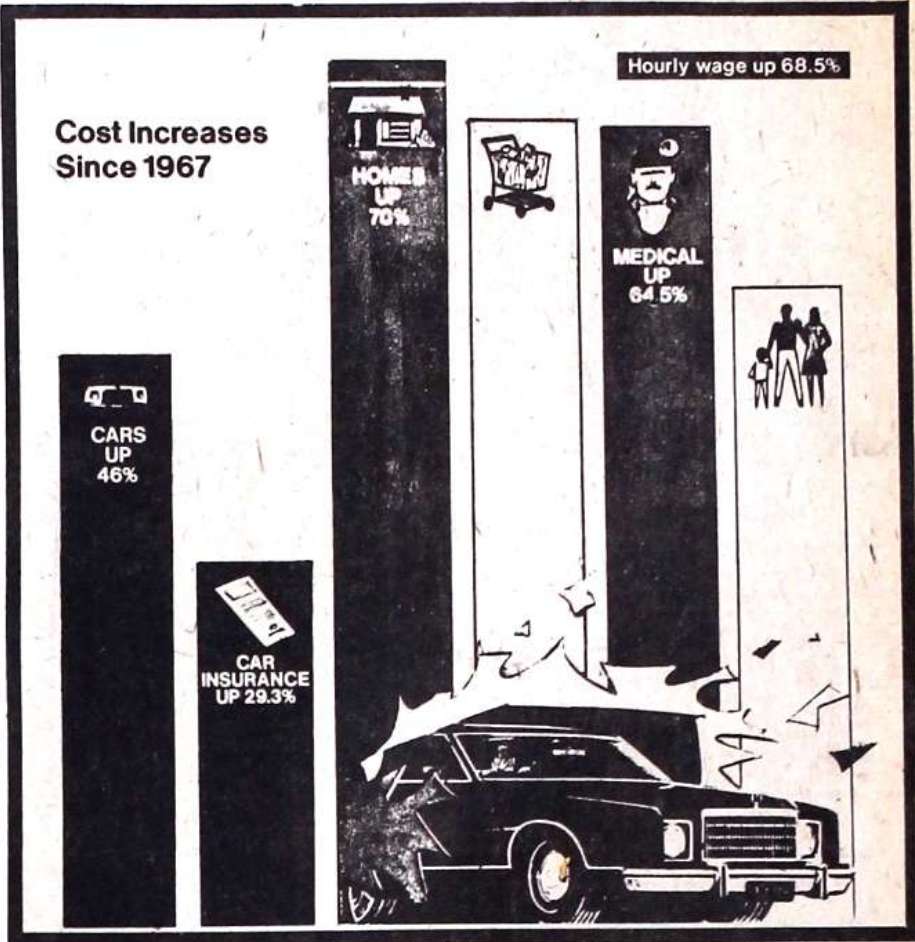

8. The cost of a new car now takes less from today's paycheck than it did 10 years ago. Then it took the median wage earner 5.1 months to earn the price of a base four-door car. Today, he can earn a four-door car in 4.4 months.

9. During the last few months the increase in resale value of used cars has been high enough, in many cases, to offset completely the new '75 price increases. In effect, used car prices may never be higher and the cost to trade may never be lower.

10. It all adds up to a lot for your dollar at a time when you probably need a new car — and the nation's economy needs your vote of confidence.

"Four part harmony" has been revived by the Beauty Shop Quartet of North Junior High School (from left) Robin Riggs, Judy Hrabosky, Sandy Long and Polly Perkins. The members, all eighth graders at North, plan to join the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America (SPEBSQSA). If they are accepted it will be the first time the distaff side has been accepted into the barbershop quartet society. The Beauty Shop Quartet, members of their school's Concert Choir, excel in singing and dramatics. The group along with North's singing Choralliers plan to present joint concerts at schools, hospitals and service clubs in the Belleville-Ypsilanti area. Any group interested in a free musical program is asked to contact Kathleen Thueme at North Junior High School.

'Country Store' features days-of-yore merchandise

When it comes to clever, original ideas and the actual implementation of them, there's one local club group that'd be hard to beat — the 64 member "Crackpot Squares" of Belleville.

As their latest project the square dance group came up with a "Ma and Pa Dance" Jan. 18 at South Junior High School. The theme, "The Old Country Store", was carried out in the costumes of the evening — long dresses and bonnets for the gals and bib overalls and checked shirts for their mates.

Club members also furnished the many interesting antiques which were part of the decor which set the "old-fashioned" mood for the party. And on table racks and shelves below hand-painted signs and old pictures were the many interesting items the group bought for the "store."

Cakes of homemade lye soap and freshly-ground wheat flour were the contributions of Fay and Mary Ferguson while the basket of fresh eggs and two live chickens were the idea of their son and daughter-in-law, Bob and Lucy Ferguson, who, along with the John Thompsons, also donated handmade candles.

Then there was that tantalizing fresh home-baked bread made by the Roger Youngs of Waltz and those yummy confections, "mother's old-fashioned sugar cookies", from the kitchen of Art and Verdys Shepherd.

Still another area featured home canned goods put up by Jim and Pat Shephard and Donna Pearson and the hand crocheted lovebies by Veronica Yeager of New Boston.

A wheel of that good nippy "store cheese" attracted lots of customers as did the barrel of huge dill pickles which stood nearby.

The seven guest couples from neighboring clubs joined the "Crackpots" in bowing to their partners and promenading around the hall. Joe Reed was at the mike to sing out the calls which added even more nostalgia to the old-time event.

Homemade cookies, jello and coffee rounded out the evening for the group.

Scientists probe the unknown to determine the possibilities and probabilities with constant experimentation. Discoveries are made. Proof is established. The unknown becomes the known.

For some strange reason, some people say science and religion oppose each other. True, some scientists are agnostics and atheists. But through the years, most of the world's greatest scientists have realized knowledge of the nature of the physical universe is limited. They know a Higher Power, a more Knowledgeable Power exists. They know piece-meal bits of knowledge are released ONLY through the graciousness of a Higher Power than man. They realize life is a paradox. They realize humility makes man great. Charity makes a man rich in character. Forgiveness gives him magnanimity of spirit. Absence of envy and greed keeps his soul in order. These are only a few of the realities that prove a Higher Power exists; a Power that controls the limitations of science.

Men's Club hosts annual 'All-Holiday Dance'

Party attracts close to 200

The Men's Club of St. Anthony's Church can look back on still another successful event, staged Jan. 18 in the Father Folta Building. The "All Holiday Dinner Dance", the group's fourth annual gala, found 190 guests enjoying the evening festivities.

Cocktails, dinner and dancing began at 8 p.m. and lasted well beyond the last strains of "There's No Place Like Home." Don Meyer, general chairman of this year's event, was on hand with his wife, Jean, to greet parishioners and their many guests. Co-chairman Bill Bowles and his wife, Margaret, also attended.

Jack Burcroff once again used his magic to transform the hall into a beautiful ball room complete with a spot-lighted revolving mirrored ball which sent its beams splashing around the dance floor throughout the evening. Colorful draperies, disguising the plain block walls, were divided by sheer gathered panels with twinkling Italian lights peeking through.

A dropped ceiling was formed with the use of long banners which also rotated above the crowd. Carrying out the theme of the party were the dozen or so colorful posters which covered the entrance to the buffet dinner area. The placards, extending wishes for St. Patrick's Day, Thanksgiving, Easter, Halloween, Mother's and Father's Days and the nation's other special dates, also included Yom Kippur and Rosh Hashana.

Having a big part in changing the gymnasium into a one-night-stand "night club" were Glenn Lehman and Jerome Fay who attended with their wives, Gerry and Sally. Others taking on chairmanships for the dance were Bill Szilinis, who was in charge of refreshments, and Jack Loria and Louie Herring who handled tickets.

SITTING ONE OUT — Table partners for the gala evening planned by St. Anthony's Men's Club Jan. 18 were Judge James Stone and his wife, Jean, and Ann Szilinis and her husband, Bill, (who was in charge of refreshments for the party.) Both men are members of the Men's Club which sponsored its fourth annual party, this year labeled The "All-Holiday Dinner- Dance."

COOK TAKES "FIVE" — Lucille Remus (right) an important part of the backbone of St. Anthony's Parish, took a few minutes out from her catering duties to chat with Jerome and Sally Fay and others at their table at the "All Holiday Dinner Dance" Jan. 18. Jerome was among club members who helped transform the Father Folta Building into a one-night ballroom.

THE WALTZ YOU SAVED FOR ME — Mr. and Mrs. Leo Gramlich (he's a past president of the Men's Club) were among the many couples to take to the well-waxed dance floor Jan. 18 at the "All Holiday Dinner Dance" sponsored by the club. Held in a beautifully decorated Father Folta Building, the party attracted some 190 guests.

"JACK, THE MAGICIAN" — Although he's never had a lesson in sorcery or magic, Jack Burcroff (left) always manages to cast a spell over St. Anthony's Father Folta Building when it comes time for the Men's Club Dance each year. With special assistance from club members Jerome Fay and Glenn Lehman, he transformed a bleak gymnasium into a fairyland of twinkling lights amid colorfully draped walls and dropped ceiling formed of long, sheer banners. Jack and his wife, Dorothy, enjoyed the buffet dinner served after the cocktail hour and prior to dancing.

BPW to check day care center need

The Business and Professional Women's Club of Belleville (BPW) is interested in relating effectively to the needs of working women. Locating quality day care for children is one of the vital concerns of working parents. Child care may be provided in a licensed day care center where groups of children are provided for or in a licensed day care home for one to four children.

The group is seeking to determine the need in the Belleville community for child care for infants through young school age children. Therefore, BPW members will be surveying the area in the next few weeks to determine the extent of the need for such facilities.

If you are looking for quality care for a child from infancy through early school age while you work, you are urged to call one of the following — numbers in Belleville: 697-0705, 697-9692 or 697-1691.

You may also call if you are interested in operating a licensed day care home. Contact BPW and they will try to put you in touch with the proper agency.

Your interest and cooperation will enable the group to encourage the type of day care centers and licensed homes where you will feel secure in placing your children.

Past Matrons meet for noon luncheon

The January meeting of the Past Matrons' Association of Belleville Chapter No. 73, order Eastern Star was held at the Wayne home of Past Matron Florence Sugars on Jan. 9.

Due to considerable sickness only 11 members were present for the 12:30 luncheon. The hostess was assisted in serving by a friend, Ina Harrison.

In the absence of the president, Dorothy Kellas, conducted a short business meeting. The chaplain, Katherine Spring, had the devotions.

Following the meeting, the hostess presented two pencil and paper games with Elda Bohl and Frances McAtee receiving the awards.

The February hostess will be Past Matron Katherine Spring.

Helton-McEwen set May 10 altar date

The engagement of their daughter, Cynthia Kay Helton, to Tim Robert McEwen is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dorton of 9358 Essex St., Romulus.

The prospective bridegroom, the son of Mrs. Myrtle McEwen of 13925

Huron River Dr., Romulus, is employed by the Ford Motor Company at Dearborn. He and his fiancée are both graduates of Romulus High School.

The wedding is being planned for May 10 at the Calvary Baptist Church.

Sr. Citizens plan photos for ID cards

Senior Citizens of Romulus met Jan. 21 for their regular meeting at the Romulus FFW Hall. Announcements included a change of date from Feb. 11 to Feb. 4 for the trip to the Shrine Circus in Detroit.

The group was also informed that photographers would be present at the Feb. 11 meeting to take pictures for identification cards. The cards will be especially useful for those who no longer have driver's licenses and will come in handy for cashing checks and for other purposes of identification. There will be no charge for this service.

Visitors at the meeting included Duke Zavitz, vice-chairman of the Romulus Recreation Department, and a representative from United Air Lines who presented several decks of cards to the club.

Two groups remained at the hall to play pinocle and one to enjoy bunco.

Mini-lessons teach ecology, dance

Two new ventures recently have been introduced to students attending Van Buren Public Schools by the Van Buren Township Parks and Recreation Department's personnel.

The new programs involve mini lessons in ecology and creative dancing.

Jeffery G. Clark, director of the township's Parks and Recreation Department and Maxie Haase, creative dance instructor, are making themselves available to work with students in the Van Buren School District.

Mini - lessons is the label they have placed upon their new ventures. Maxie puts on a creative dance and play program for the kindergarten children while Clark instructs a mini-ecology unit which is geared to fit the needs of all age levels. It includes such items as water cycle, food webs, pollution and wildlife.

At the request of Julie Hacala, fourth grade teacher at the Elwell Elementary School in Belleville, Clark recently held the class "spellbound" for more than an hour, according to school officials.

Asked how they liked the program, the students stated they were amazed at the number of forms of pollution that existed and how easy it was to be negligent and pollute, Mrs. Hacala said.

Belleville Junior Miss cited for determination

Although Belleville Junior Miss Gayle Yvonne Simons was unsuccessful in her bid for the Michigan Junior Miss title, she returned home with the Lensundahl Memorial Award.

Miss Simons was one of 24 contestants who competed in the Michigan Junior Miss contest held at Pontiac Northern High School in Pontiac last Friday and Saturday nights.

The Belleville High School senior and honor student was selected by the contest judges as the student "most determined" to learn her academic and personal goals in her educational pursuits. The recipient of the Lensundahl award also received a $100 U. S. Savings Bond. Miss Simons plans to study dramatics at Eastern Michigan University when she graduates this year.

She has been and is active in various high school clubs and has participated in three high school productions of noted plays.

It was reported that the contestant from Battle Creek was selected as the new Michigan Junior Miss.

Pack presents badges

The presentation of merit badges and other awards was the highlight of a recent meeting of Cub Scout Pack 830 sponsored by the Hayti Elementary School in Romulus.

The members of the pack who received awards were:

Robert Perrot, Gary Oates and Monty Collier, who received their Bobcat pins; Jeff Satterlee, Bear badge; Bobby Madaris, Peter Kosciolk and Craig Nefsey received their Bear books.

Craig Nefsey and Peter Kosciolk also were given their 1-year service star. In addition, Peter got a 1-year perfect attendance badge.

James Rice, Bobby Buggy, Jeff Kosmalski, Gary Oates and Ricky Gray received Athlete badges; Tony Lewis, Engineer and Science badges; Norman Hotchkiss and Sammy West, Naturalist badges; Kenny Mazer, a Citizen badge; and Ricky Gray, a Sportsman badge.

A graduation certificate was presented to Kenny

Mazer, who also received the Arrow of Light honor. Leader patches were given to Jean Kosciolk and Peter Kosciolk.

Smith named to committee

The new committee appointments for 1975 recently reported by the chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners included Royce E. Smith (D) representing the 27th District and former Belleville mayor.

Smith, who was elected in November, was named by Roscoe L. Bobo, chairman of the Board of Commissioners, to the Public Works Committee, along with James DeSana (D-Wyandotte), Tom F. Taylor (D-Westland), and Chester Wozniak (D-Hamtramck).

John Lesinski (D-Dearborn) was retained as chairman of the Public Works Committee. Edgar Harris (D-Taylor) was named vice-chairman.

FIGHTING WORDS — Belleville's North Junior High School fight song now contains a verse written by Curt Cardinal, 14, a member of the eighth grade. Curt is shown busy at his poetry writing. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cardinal of 8701-50 Belleville Road, Belleville.

Student writes fighting words

A new "fight song" has been written for teams participating in Belleville's North Junior High School athletic programs.

The school's Student Council supervised the song's composition.

The second of the 2-verse "North Junior High School Fight Song" was composed by Curt Cardinal, 14, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cardinal of 8701-50 Belleville Road, Belleville.

Curt is a member of the eighth grade class at the school located at 47097 McBride St., Belleville.

The school's fight song follows:

Cheer Cheer for North Junior High
Wake Up the echoes cheering her name,
Send a volley cheer on high
Shake down the thunder from the sky.
North Junior High will win over all.
While her loyal sons go

RENOVATION — The appearance of Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt's office area at City Hall has changed considerably, for the better, according to the mayor and several secretaries. The plywood panel in the corner of the room shown is where Troutt's office door used to be. There's now another entrance to his office, through a private attached office. — The Enterprise-Roman photo.

Debate team wins state title

The Belleville High School Debate Team has won the Michigan Bicentennial State Championship with a perfect 12-0 record. In winning the title, the high school's debate team competed against students from 12 high schools from throughout the state who participated in the recent final competition held at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

with from 30 to 50 schools. Belleville debaters have won all but three of nine tournaments this year.

Berean Baptist to hold missionary conference

The Berean Baptist Church of Belleville will have its annual Missionary Conference on Feb. 2-5.

The three missionaries who will participate in the local missionary conference are Ronald DeJong of Baptist Mid-Missions whose field is Australia; James Missildine, also of Baptist Mid-Missions, whose field of work is Detroit among Jewish people; and Robert Howder of the Association of Baptists for World Evangelism, whose field of work is Japan.

On Sunday, one of the missionaries will speak to the adults during the Sunday School hours, one will speak at the 11 a.m. service and one will speak at 7 p.m., said The Rev. H. Franklin Miller, pastor of the Berean Baptist Church which is located at 6889 Belleville Road, Belleville.

Monday through Wednesday each of the three missionaries will be appearing on the program. Evening services begin at 7 p.m.

The tables located at the rear of the church will display curios from the different cultures and areas served by the three missionaries. The public is invited to attend the conference services.

The 12 teams were the survivors of regional competition that began a month earlier with hundreds of schools participating.

Belleville's debate team has won an all-expense paid trip to Williamsburg, Va. where it will visit historical sites and participate in the national debate tournament scheduled for Feb. 5.

"This victory climaxes the most successful season in Belleville High School's recent history," Coach David White said.

The debate team, a state finalist last year, has extended its winning streak this year. The team regularly participates in tournament competition

In league debating, the Belleville team won its Suburban Eight competition with a perfect 20-0 win-loss record. In its Romeo League competition, Belleville's team easily won first place with a near-perfect 23-1 record.

Representing Belleville High School in the national championship will be twin brothers John and Charles Dougherty of Belleville, both high school seniors.

Official warns against deducting tax rebate

A warning to taxpayers advising them not to deduct on their 1974 income tax returns the tax rebate proposed by the President on Jan. 13 has been issued by R. L. Plate, Internal Revenue Service (IRS) district director for Michigan.

The proposal has yet been enacted by Congress, and returns should be prepared and filed according to instructions that come with the tax form and without regard to any rebate or similar plans now being proposed, Plate said.

Emphasizing that possible rebates being considered have no bearing on any tax refunds already due taxpayers for 1974, he added that persons expecting refunds have an added incentive to file early.

Refunds can be issued to early filers within four or five weeks after a return is received by the IRS, while it may take up to eight weeks to issue refunds to those who file close to the April 15 deadline.

The IRS said that since the proposal under consideration may involve the payment of a rebate later in the year, taxpayers who move from the address shown on their income tax return should file promptly a change of address notice with the post office in the area from which they move.

Competition seeks out county's 'Little Miss'

A contest is underway in Wayne County to select some little girl between the ages of five and nine as the "Little Miss Wayne County."

The "Little Miss Wayne County" beauty pageant will be held at 2 p.m. Feb. 16 at the Westland Mall, located at 35000 Warren Road in Westland. Registration for the contest can be made as late as 1 p.m.

The contest is strictly a beauty pageant with no talent involved. It is open to any little girl in this age range as long as they live in Wayne County.

The girls are required to model a sportswear outfit and must have a personal interview with the judges. Sponsors are looking for the "natural" little girl. No hairpiece or makeup is allowed.

There will be "Little Miss Wayne County," the first runnerup and the winner of "Little Miss Personality" competition phase of the beauty pageant representing Wayne County at the Michigan State Little Miss competition which will be held in Ann Arbor in April.

The winners of the county beauty pageant will receive a crown, trophies, banners, flowers and the privilege of going on to the state pageant.

All contestants also will receive a participation award. The state winners receive the prizes just mentioned plus savings bonds, gifts, toys, modeling courses and an all-expense paid trip for themselves and their mothers to Roanoke, Va., to compete for the National Little Miss title in June.

The contest is sponsored by the National Little Miss organization. The Wayne County competition is similar to contests held in various counties throughout the state to select girls best suited from each area to represent their county at the state pageant.

Forms for the Wayne County contest may be picked up at the Westland Mall downstairs offices, or at various businesses throughout Wayne County which display the "yellow" sign of the pageant.

Additional information concerning the beauty pageant may be obtained by contacting pageant director Judy Jones at 483-7161 in Ypsilanti.

TEACHER PENS ARTICLE — A fourth grade teacher at Elwell Road Elementary School in Belleville has written an article for Learning Magazine concerning the study of plant growth and development for children. Looking over the article with the teacher, Julia Hacala, are Van Buren School Supt. Dale E. Kaulitz (left) and School Principal William Chizmar. Both congratulated Mrs. Hacala.

District teacher is budding author

One of the teachers at Elwell Road Elementary School, a unit of the Van Buren Public School District, recently did something a great many people do each and every year.

She sent an idea in to a magazine. And, like the rest of us, she never expected to hear any more about it.

Much to the surprise of the author, fourth grade teacher Julie Hacala, a letter arrived at her home addressed to Mrs. Hacala from Learning Magazine.

Even more surprising was the fact the letter said she would be receiving a check for $25 and her article would be published.

Mrs. Hacala's idea was a project for the children to do while studying plant growth and development. She suggested the children place seeds in plastic bags so as to watch them germinate. The article will appear in the April 1975 issue of Learning Magazine.

The author added that the $25 check arrived a week after she received the letter.

Mrs. Hacala and her husband, Bruce, reside in Ann Arbor.

Planners set date of zoning hearing

A public hearing on a proposed amendment to the township zoning ordinance to permit the construction of a new Chevrolet dealership has been scheduled by the Van Buren Township Planning Commission.

The public hearing to rezone a 32-acre land parcel, located on the northwest corner of the north service drive of I-94 between Morton Taylor and Dewitt roads, will be held at 8 p.m. Feb. 5 at the Township Hall, 46425 Tyler Road.

Leaguers to dance for funds

A fund-raising dance for the Romulus South Little League will be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Feb. 8 at the Romulus Progressive Hall, Ozga and Five Points roads.

Cost is $10 per couple and door prizes will be awarded. Refreshments will be provided. Entertainment will be by the "Gold Tones."

For recreation

Department adds programs

The Van Buren Township Parks and Recreation Department has initiated two new programs in the department's further efforts toward providing additional service and recreational service to the township residents.

The new programs involve cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (CPR) and "mini-ecology" and are being offered without cost to interested groups.

The CPR program is a demonstration in a lifesaving first-aid technique used in cardiac arrest situations.

Mouth-to-mouth resuscitation is substituted for children's groups because CPR can only be demonstrated to adult persons, according to Jeffery G. Clark, director of the Parks and Recreation Department.

Mini-ecology is a program for elementary school classes. "We will send a representative into the classroom to give a discussion on some topic concerning ecology. Programs in the water cycle, food webs, wild life and pollution already have been designed. Programs in other areas of ecological concern presently are being prepared," Clark said. "We will work out any other program that a teacher desires."

Recently the Recreation Department conducted a CPR program at North Junior High School in Belleville. The CPR demonstration was conducted by Clark and Irene Mushen, a member of the Recreation Department staff.

Students attending the school's physical education classes were given the opportunity actually to practice artificial resuscitation on "Resusc-Anne," a human resuscitation model.

Assistant Principal William Sparrow said the presentation was well received and that many questions were asked by the students during the discussion session held prior to the actual demonstrations on the model.

Clark and Mrs. Mushen are certified CPR instructors.

Save a cool 3% for every degree permanently dialed back!

Dialing down your thermostat saves money. So if you haven't begun consistently maintaining lower temperatures in your home, you'll want to do so now.

How much can you expect to save? Let's look at a few facts.

1. You can save about 3% for every degree you permanently dial down during the heating season. For example, set your thermostat back five degrees, leave it there, and you'll save about 15%.
2. If you regularly set your thermostat back each night, you can save more than 1% for every degree dialed down for an eight-hour period. For example, set your thermostat back seven degrees and you'll save about 9%. Set it back 10 degrees and save about 12%.
3. Of course, you can save even more by leaving your thermostat down every day and dialing even further down at night.

4. You can save still more Gas and money by dialing down to 55 degrees while you're away from home for vacations or long weekends.

Any time you dial down for more than five hours you save. Just how much you'll save depends on several factors. How many degrees you dial back. How many hours you maintain this lower temperature setting. And the weather. The colder the weather, the greater the savings.

Our Gas is your lowest cost fuel. Use it efficiently and you'll save even more. So if you haven't begun dialing down, do it now. The savings can really add up. Conserve America's vital supplies of Natural Gas, too.

Ceremony will honor scouts in religion

Area scouts who have earned special religious award emblems in the past year will be saluted when the Detroit Area Catholic Committee on Scouting holds its Annual Recognition Ceremony and Anniversary Mass at the Gesu Church in Detroit at 3 p.m. Sunday.

The recognition ceremony embodies the Catholic committee's formal presentation in Boy Scout Week celebrating the 65th anniversary of the founding of the movement in the United States. The ceremony, which was started in the 30's as the "Boy Scout Holy Hour," also is the oldest continuous program of the Detroit Area Catholic Committee. The award class of 406 is one of the largest in the last 20 years. Included are 333 who earned the Parvuli Dei emblem in 1974, 63 who merited the Ad Altare Dei award and 10 who qualified for the Pope Pius XII award. The Parvuli Dei class is the largest in the history of the archdiocese.

These emblems are conferred upon scouts who have shown exceptional progress in outdoor lore and in the knowledge and practice of the Catholic religion. The Parvuli Dei is for Cub Scouts, the Ad Altare Dei for Boy Scouts and the Pope Pius XII for senior and Explorer Scouts.

The Pope Paul VI Unit Citation will be conferred on a selected group of Cub Scout packs and Boy Scout troops for having achieved high standards of operation during 1974. More than 12,000 boys and leaders in 225 parishes are active in scouting under Catholic auspices.

Jaycees accept bids for chapter openings

The Romulus Jaycees are accepting applications to fill seven membership openings in the chapter.

President Phil McNett said the openings would be filled on a first-come, first-served basis, providing the applicants meet certain requirements.

First, the applicant must be a male between 18 and 35 years old. He must attend a general membership meeting of the chapter and be approved by the general membership and board of directors.

He also must pay $21 in dues and administrative fees.

The Jaycees are a non-profit civic organization "interested in the development of its members by their working together to solve local community problems."

Applications may be obtained by calling McNett at 941-7891 or by writing the Jaycees at P.O. Box 35, Romulus.

Due to growth in area

Belleville telephones reclassified

The Belleville telephone exchange has been reclassified to a higher rate group because of the growth in the number of telephones in the local calling area.

Eugene L. Greek, Michigan Bell's local manager, said upgrading the exchange from rate "C" to "D" was effective Jan. 20. The reclassification was ordered by the Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC).

The reclassification means that Belleville residential customers with 1- or 2-party flat rate service or suburban 4-party service will pay 25 cents more each month, Greek continued. The increases do not affect residential customers with metro or measured service.

Flat rate business service is not available in the "D" rate group. It will be replaced by measured service at a cost of $5.75 or $6.60 a month, plus a charge of five cents for each local call, he added. No other business rates are affected.

Michigan Bell last month filed the reclassification request because the number of telephones in Belleville's local calling area — which includes Belleville, New Boston, Romulus, Wayne, Willis and Ypsilanti — had remained above 80,000 for two years. There was an increase from about 80,400 telephones in November 1972 to about 88,400 in November 1974, Greek said.

When the number of telephones in an exchange's local calling area moves above or below its rate group limits for a period of 24 consecutive months, the exchange is reclassified and placed in the proper rate group under MPSC regulations.

Rate group "D" consists of exchanges with local calling areas of between 80,001 and 200,000 main telephones.

Rate group classifications are based on the number of telephones in the local calling area, because as the number of telephones increases, so do the opportunities for local calling, Greek said.

Tax collections keep in pace with '74 rate

The sagging economy apparently hasn't yet hampered the task of collecting taxes in Romulus.

City Treasurer John B. Lewkowicz said collections of city, school and Wayne County taxes are keeping up with last year's pace, and that 89 per cent of the expected total of city and school taxes already have been paid with more than a month to go before the deadline.

This year's final day for paying city and county taxes in Feb. 28 instead of Feb. 15 as in past years.

Lewkowicz said all bank branches can accept those payments until Feb. 28, after which payments must be made to the Wayne County treasurer, care of Louis H. Funk, 208 City-County Building, Detroit 48226.

That process does not hold for personal property taxes, however. Those must be paid through the city treasurer's office.

IDC slates seminar on development law

An informational seminar on Michigan's new Plant Rehabilitation and Industrial Development District Law will be held at Ypsilanti Township Hall on Feb. 14 under the sponsorship of the Ypsilanti Industrial Development Corp. (IDC).

The new law grants a 12-year freeze on local tax assessments to business and industry to encourage expansion and modernization. The new law allows local governments to set up plant rehabilitation districts and industrial development district areas.

Under the law's provisions, firms can modernize or replace obsolete and rundown facilities without having their property tax assessments raised for 12 years. For a new plant, an industrial facility tax will be levied at half the normal millage rate for property taxes.

The seminar will be held from 9:30 to 11:45 a.m. IDC Director Robert L. Gage is seminar chairman.

The purpose of the seminar is to explain how local industry in Ypsilanti and surrounding communities may take advantage of the law for plant modernization or new plant construction.

Among the seminar speakers are John Axe, Detroit attorney and legal counsel for Van Buren Township; Jack Kavanagh, director of the Industry Division of the Michigan Department of Economic Expansion; and Phillip A. Hoffman, manager of property taxes for General Motors Corp.

Attorney Axe helped to draft the new law and is considered an expert in the field. Hoffman, from GM's central staff, has been involved in several plant rehabilitation district applications and is well qualified to explain the law.

Area industry, governmental and school district officials are invited.

The session is open to the public. Registration information may be obtained by calling the IDC office at 482-4920.

Vet to work at dog pound

Repeating what in past years has been a successful dual service to Romulus residents, the city has obtained a veterinarian to provide rabies vaccinations when purchase of a city dog license is made.

Romulus City Treasurer John B. Lewkowicz said a veterinarian will be at the dog pound in the Romulus Fire Station at Goddard and Wayne roads from 3 to 5 p.m. on Feb. 15 and 22 and March 1.

After the dog has been inoculated for a $5 fee, which will protect the animal for a 2-year period, licenses may be purchased at the dog pound.

Belleville tied for 2nd

Coaches don't like to look past their next rival to some near-future showdown for what could be a title, but, like it or not, Belleville Coach Tom Niemi finds himself in that position this week.

And he can thank his Tigers, who have been playing some of the finest basketball seen in these parts for quite some time, for the predicament.

Wayne favored to win Romulus invitational

Wayne Memorial, rated the No. 1 high school wrestling team in the state, will challenge Adrian, the defending champ, for the second annual Romulus Invitational championship. The championship will be held beginning at 12:30 p.m. on Saturday at Romulus High.

Wayne is undefeated in dual meet competition this season and is coming off of a second place finish at the Detroit Catholic Central Invitational where 11 out of its 12 wrestlers captured medals.

Along with the host, Romulus, and the two powers—Wayne and Adrian—the field also includes Fenton, an annual Class B power, Flint Northern, Clawson, Mt. Clemens and Alpena.

Fans may expect to pay a $1 (adults) and 50 cents (students) for admission to the day long meet.

The top two teams will be awarded trophies, while medals will go to the top three finishers in each of the 12 weight classes.

Finals are scheduled for 7 p.m.

Meanwhile, Romulus joined Wayne Memorial and 14 other area schools in competing for the DCC Invitational. Wayne was beaten by Temperance Bedford for the No. 1 spot and there could be a shake up in the ratings this season as a consequence.

Wayne Memorial, winning medals in 11 of the 12 weight classes, finished second at the 16-team Detroit Catholic Central Wrestling Invitational held over the weekend.

It was Wayne's first appearance at the prestigious meet, tagged the second toughest in the state, next to the state finals.

WAYNE MEMORIAL'S Paul Goosby won his 99th match and walked off the mats with a gold medal in the 100-pound class, while Westland John Glenn's outstanding 107-pounder, Agron Vasha, was the only other area gold medalist.

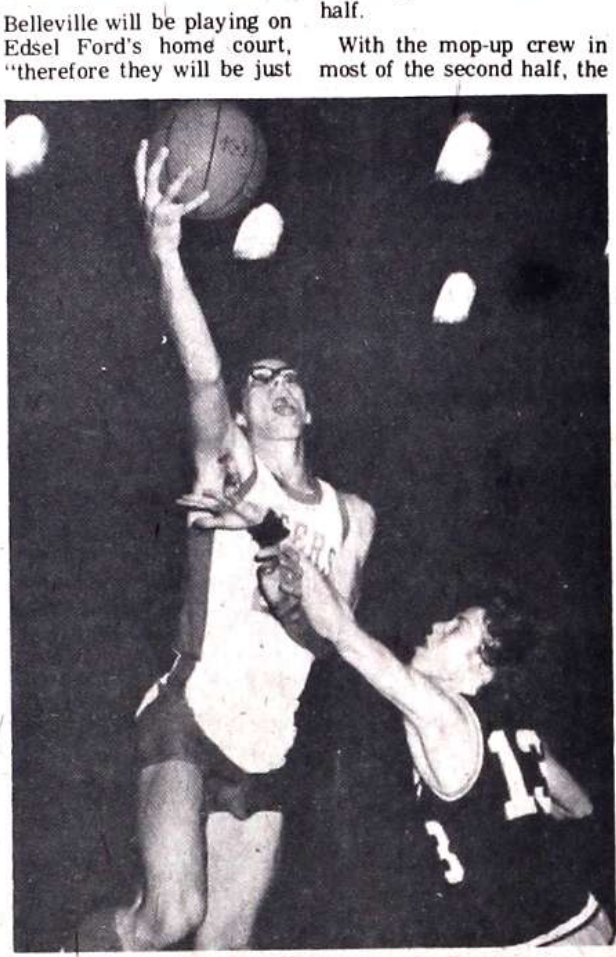

Both Goosby and Vasha established themselves as strong contenders for the Class A state titles in their respective weight classes.

Wayne, teamwise, garnered 106½ points, 24½ less than champ, Temperance Bedford a team Coach Don Haney's Zebras had beaten earlier in dual meet competition.

"I wasn't pleased with the number of winners we had," stressed Haney after his team posted its first "loss" of the season. "Bedford had four winners and they have come on immensely since we beat them and they are going to be difficult to stop."

GOOSBY, who is one victory away from becoming the first wrestler in Wayne Memorial history to ever post 100 career wins, captured the DCC title when he outwrestled John Guerra Adrian 11-6.

TOUCHY SITUATION — A little too late to block Ernie Thornsberry's (white jersey) shot, this Allen Park cager commits a foul which the Belleville cager put to good use. Belleville beat the Jaguars here, then went on to rout Trenton and Redford Union for back-to-back league victories which hurled them into second place in the Suburban 8. They'll have to beat Edsel Ford Friday night in order to stay there.

Huron's rally jolts airport

New Boston Huron put the pieces together to its cage machine last week and churned out two consecutive league victories. And that hasn't happened in these parts for quite some time.

Coach Lee Goodney's Chiefs handcuffed Flat Rock 73-69 on Tuesday, then came back to beat Airport 53-50 on Friday, moving out of the cellar and into seventh place in the eight team league.

If Huron can stop Monroe Jefferson on Friday on the latter's court, the chiefs could move up a notch.

"In both games we fell behind but the boys refused to quit," said Goodney, "they kept hustling and showed some real poise."

"I feel we're beginning to put things together around here," he said.

AIRPORT leaped to a 14-9 first period lead and hung on at half, 31-20. The Chiefs began to move in the third period when they outscored their hosts 16-14, then Jeff Gill drilled in seven of his 12 points in the final period to spark Huron to a 17-5 advantage and the victory.

"Our defense also played a strong second half," related Goodney, "it caused numerous turnovers in the that much tougher to beat." But, if Edsel Ford is an improved ball club since the two last met, so is Belleville. Belleville has lost only one of its last six starts.

THE TIGERS put a tall and physical Redford Union quintet out of its misery early as they pounded their league rivals 22-10 in the first period, then increased the advantage to 47-19 at the half.

With the mop-up crew in most of the second half, the Tigers maintained a 23 point rest of the way.

"This is what a team can do working together," said Niemi, "all of these boys are just giving it all they got every second they're in the ball game."

"That's what is making the difference."

AT ONE POINT of the "battle", Belleville enjoyed a 52-19 lead. The Easley brothers — Walt and Dennis — teamed with Mel Abraham to supply the scoring power.

Walt led all scorers with 18 points and brother Dennis sank 15 while Abraham contributed 14 as the Tigers raced to their sixth league win.

Greg Wood was the only Redford Union player to hit in double figures. He had 10.

Walt fired in 10 of the Tigers 22 first period points in the Trenton game and that staked the local cagers to a 22-8 edge which they managed to protect the rest of the way.

BELLEVILLE built up a 36-24 halftime advantage then pounded Trenton 19-18 in the third period before putting the game away with a 23-14 edge in the final eight minutes.

Trenton futilely attempted to throw a zone at the Tigers whose long range artillery was on target most of the night. Abraham hit on 13 jump shots for 26 points while Walt sacked 19 points and brother Dennis counted 16.

Trenton's Kevin Nash and Steve Deller had 21 and 14 points, respectively.

Grover posts his 102nd win

Huron overpowered Carlson 63-6 on conference mats last week to stay in contention for the championship. It was the Chief's ninth win in 11 starts on the season.

Heavyweight Bill Grover, who is undefeated on the season and sporting a 21-0 record, has 102 career wins. He is the first wrestler in the New Boston high school's history to ever win 100 or more wrestling decisions.

TWO OTHERS — Don Thornsberry and Keith Reitz are also having an excellent year. Thornsberry has amassed a 21-2 record as a 155-pounder while Reitz, in the 105 and 112 pound classes, has compiled a similar mark.

In the match against Carlson three Huron wrestlers — Ed Henson (100), Reitz (112) and Al Budek (185) and heavyweight Martin Benson were awarded victories via forfeits.

Falls were accorded to Bill Ortnier (119), Larry Kittle (126), Ted Pappas (138) and George Palowski (167).

EMU picks Pettus as tri-captain

By TOM MOORADIAN

FORMER ALL-AREA athletes who are in the news this week include Garrade Pettus, ex-Belleville High track great and the only athlete in the history of this newspapers' All-Area Trace Invitational to win four berths on the mythical track team.

Pettus was one of three senior standouts who were named last week as Eastern Michigan University's tri-captains in track for the 1975 indoor and outdoor season.

Garrade has been an outstanding competitor for Huron these past three seasons. He holds the EMU varsity indoor record of 6-foot-10 in high jump. His leap of 6-foot-11 inches rates as the varsity outdoor mark.

The other two athletes who will share the tri-captains' duties are Stan Vinson, a 440-and 600-yard dash specialist from Detroit Chadsey High School and distanceman Tom Hollander, who is a consistent runner on the cross country team and will fit into Huron's plans as a two or three miler during the track season.

PAUL GOOSBY, Wayne Memorial's outstanding senior grappler, could become the first wrestler in Wayne's history to win 100 matches.

The 107-pound senior, who should have little trouble in picking up No. 96 at Riverview tonight, will compete in the tough Detroit Catholic Central Invitational over the weekend where, if he goes all the way, he'll join the elite century club.

New Boston Huron's heavyweight Bill Grover was inducted into the club last Saturday. Grover became the first Huron High wrestler to amass a career total of 100 victories Saturday when he won the Riverview Invitational heavyweight crown.

The hefty senior went on to post No. 101 victory.

Huron Coach Jim Rossow said of Bill's accomplishment: "He's truly a great wrestler and athlete and, moreover, he's a fine example of our youth today."

THEN, GEORGE LOVICH, who is going to expound on the theme of "Computer-Scouting" at the first Wayne State University Football Clinic (Feb. 15) won't expound on the theories and practices here.

"If you want to know what it's all about, then you'll have to come to the clinic," quipped Kovich, whose football teams were among the finest in the Northwest Suburban Conference. "I don't want to reveal our secrets prematurely."

Lovich stepped down as Livonia Franklin's head football coach at the end of the 1974 season to handle the athletic directorship of that school after his team posted a perfect 9-0 over-all record and captured the Northwest Suburban Conference championship.

In fact, the Livonians were ranked the No. 2 team in Region II behind Plymouth Salem in the final "Paper Playoff" results.

THE CONTROVERSY over which high school basketball player holds the single game scoring record in the area continues. Back in December Cherry Hill's Bob Fowler drilled in 44 points and we figured it to be tops.

It wasn't.

A few days later, via the mail, we were informed that ex-Wayne Memorial cager, Ron Daniels pumped in 47 points against Edsel Ford during the 1968-69 season.

However, last night a fan, who apparently gets our paper by way of Pony Express, informed us that Garden City West's ex-All-American center, Rick Drevitz dropped in 48 points to help the Tigers beat Livonia Bentley in the district championship game at Livonia Franklin during the 1970 season.

Belleville swim coach Sam Vicchy recently said he'd like to "set his tankers loose on the Western Wayne Invitational field."

Vicchy will get that opportunity on Feb. 12 when the 13th annual Western Wayne Aquatics Championships will be held at Westland John Glenn.

A year ago Vicchy's Tigers finished second to Garden City East and he'll like to move up a notch and bring home the first place trophy.

"WE HAVE some fine swimmers this year," said Vicchy "and we're definitely among the serious contenders this year."

The field also will include Wayne Memorial, Garden City East and West, Dearborn Heights Robichaud, Inkster, Livonia Franklin, Churchill and Cherry Hill.

There will be medals awarded for first, second and third places and ribbons will be presented to the first six places.

Feb. 12 has been set aside for the prelims of the 500-yard freestyle and diving as well as the semi-finals. The events begin at 5 p.m. Diving will start at 7 p.m.

The finals will be held on Saturday, Feb. 15.

Ecorse stuns Romulus in double overtime

Romulus has a rare Friday night off and Coach Jesse Meriweather will probably use the time to prepare for the grueling stretch.

In the last couple of weeks of the basketball season, the Romulus coach will send his minions up against the likes of Detroit Pershing (Feb. 5), Detroit Northwestern (Feb. 11) and River Rouge (Feb. 14). All have explosive game teams this year.

"If this doesn't get our boys ready for the tournament, then nothing will," said Meriweather, alluding to the district Class A playoffs which Romulus will host the last week of February.

MEANWHILE, Romulus dropped a heartbreaking 92-89 double overtime decision to Suburban Athletic Conference power, Ecorse, on Friday after beating Detroit Austin on Tuesday 81-64.

The duel between Austin and the Eagles was close for three periods and the win-

The purpose of a "seeding meeting" is to plant prospective athletes into competitive brackets. The seeding is usually accomplished by a group of coaches who examine the athlete's qualifications.

And, an athlete's qualification is based upon his past record. An athlete with an excellent record thus is rewarded by meeting another whose record isn't as prominent.

However, many coaches walk into a seeding session without the necessary stats. These people have to rely upon the opposing coaches' memory about how good a certain wrestler is, therefore, denying a wrestler a chance to get the "best seeding position."

Obviously, this isn't the best way to help a young athlete.

And coaches - busy as they are - can resolve this problem by delegating the work of compiling athlete's records to another member of the faculty.

"SEEDING MEETINGS are becoming more and more politics than a place to seed athletes in the right brackets," said one of the coaches who attended the Detroit Catholic Central Invitational Wrestling Meet over the weekend.

"Coaches are busy people, I realize this, but someone has to compile these stats and some of the coaches just don't have the time or don't want to do that phase of the important job."

If the head coach can't, then obviously someone else should.

The coach went on to pay tribute to Wayne Memorial and John Glenn's wrestling teams. He said: "I don't see the two high schools ever being weak in wrestling unless, of course, its junior high school programs collapse."

That doesn't seem likely. Here's one reason why:

DURING THE RECENT Ann Arbor Pioneer Novice Tournament, Franklin Junior High wrestling coach Fred Sievert, whose team could have won it if the tournament kept team scores, had two wrestlers on the mats at the same time.

Sievert was forced to give his attention to only one of the young grapplers. Meanwhile, Jim Zoltowski, the assistant Wayne Memorial High wrestling coach, realizing Sievert's predicament, moved into the empty coach's chair at the other end of the gym to offer the young Franklin wrestler advice.

When the competition ended, Sievert approached Zoltowski and thanked him for his help, then went on to ask if there was anything he could do to better prepare Franklin wrestlers to get ready for high school competition.

That's the type of cooperation that breeds winners and champs.

Ecorse stuns Romulus in double overtime

Romulus has a rare Friday night off and Coach Jesse Meriweather will probably use the time to prepare for the grueling stretch.

In the last couple of weeks of the basketball season, the Romulus coach will send his minions up against the likes of Detroit Pershing (Feb. 5), Detroit Northwestern (Feb. 11) and River Rouge (Feb. 14). All have explosive game teams this year.

"If this doesn't get our boys ready for the tournament, then nothing will," said Meriweather, alluding to the district Class A playoffs which Romulus will host the last week of February.

MEANWHILE, Romulus dropped a heartbreaking 92-89 double overtime decision to Suburban Athletic Conference power, Ecorse, on Friday after beating Detroit Austin on Tuesday 81-64.

The duel between Austin and the Eagles was close for three periods and the win-

The purpose of a "seeding meeting" is to plant prospective athletes into competitive brackets. The seeding is usually accomplished by a group of coaches who examine the athlete's qualifications.

And, an athlete's qualification is based upon his past record. An athlete with an excellent record thus is rewarded by meeting another whose record isn't as prominent.

Obviously, this isn't the best way to help a young athlete.

And coaches - busy as they are - can resolve this problem by delegating the work of compiling athlete's records to another member of the faculty.

"SEEDING MEETINGS are becoming more and more politics than a place to seed athletes in the right brackets," said one of the coaches who attended the Detroit Catholic Central Invitational Wrestling Meet over the weekend.

"Coaches are busy people, I realize this, but someone has to compile these stats and some of the coaches just don't have the time or don't want to do that phase of the important job."

If the head coach can't, then obviously someone else should.

That doesn't seem likely. Here's one reason why:

DURING THE RECENT Ann Arbor Pioneer Novice Tournament, Franklin Junior High wrestling coach Fred Sievert, whose team could have won it if the tournament kept team scores, had two wrestlers on the mats at the same time.

Sievert was forced to give his attention to only one of the young grapplers. Meanwhile, Jim Zoltowski, the assistant Wayne Memorial High wrestling coach, realizing Sievert's predicament, moved into the empty coach's chair at the other end of the gym to offer the young Franklin wrestler advice.

When the competition ended, Sievert approached Zoltowski and thanked him for his help, then went on to ask if there was anything he could do to better prepare Franklin wrestlers to get ready for high school competition.

That's the type of cooperation that breeds winners and champs.

Oh, yes, before we forget: it appears that Detroit Catholic Central head wrestling coach Mike Rodriguez keeps up to what's happening in the area through these pages.

And he wants it known that his name isn't SAM as previously recorded erroneously on these pages.

"I like the name, Mike, so please keep it that way."

O.K. Mike. I think I picked up "Sam" from reading "Sam, I am" to my 3-year-old daughter.

FIRE ONE — Going up for a jump shot is Belleville's Kevin Edwards who came off the bench against Redford Union Friday night to score nine points. Belleville will face an improved Edsel Ford team Friday night on the Dearborn high school's court. A victory over the Tigers will enable Coach Tom Niemi's Tigers to challenge league-leading Plymouth Salem for the Suburban 8 Conference supremacy.

North, South win big in swimming

Belleville Junior High school swimming teams are living it up these days.

Sweeping all 11 first places, North dunked Allen Park 57-18 to raise its record to 2-3 on the season. Meanwhile, South dumped Willow Run 49-27.

Led by Mike Stuelton and Scott Hennells, the Vikings went 1-2 in four events. Stuelton, splitting his best time ever in winning the 50-yard butterfly at 30.4, placed first in the 50-free at 26.6 and swam on the winning medley relay.

Hennells set a personal record in the 100-yard individual medley at 1:08.8 and then came back to easily outdistance all other competitors in the 100 free, clocking in at 58.2.

IMPRESSIVE performances were turned in by teammates Ron Gott and Jeff Burgess. Ron split a personal best in taking the 100 back at 1:15.9 while Jeff saw his time drop to 1:24.6 in the 100 yard breaststroke. "We got a very good team effort with some of our young kids starting to drop in times," said Coach Frank Musser. "I'm most pleased to see the depth we're starting to develop now. All three of our losses were due to our lack of depth. Right now I'm looking ahead to our February meet against Southgate."

The North tankers' next opponent will be Marshall Junior High, Thursday at the Belleville High School pool at 4:00 p.m.

DIVIDING his squad in two and moving around his line up, John Stosick's South swimming team took two meets, with the 9th grade beating Willow Run and the 7th-8th grade team swimming past John Hill Junior High.

Taking 8 out of 10 first, the freshmen squad swam to 49-27 verdict over the Willow run flyers. Switching some of his swimmers to unfamiliar races, Stosick said he was primarily interested in giving his wares "a taste of what they might find in swimming for the varsity next year."

Phil Berger, usually an IM and butterflyer, took first in the 200-yard freestyle at 2:13.8 with teammate Terry Caves right behind at 2:14.1.

Tom Rizzo won the 100 free at 1:00.8 and split a personal best in 200 yard medley relay at 2:34.2. Not taking any first but swimming well were Karen MacDermid and Marci Rocha.

THE DIVING quartet of Tim McClelland, Ray Green, Bob Lucious and John Mills backed up Kevin McKelvey, who took first scoring 149.8 points.

Meanwhile, back home, the 7th and 8th graders took a decisive victory over John Hill, 52-21. Excellent performances marked the meet in which South won every event.

Seventh graders Kevin Baish and Bob Memering bailed strong in their individual races, Kevin going 2:34.2 in the 200 free and Bob clocking 1:33.0 in the 100 yard breaststroke.

Lloyd Dubisky went his best time ever leading off the 400 free relay at 1:07.9. Following Lloyd in that relay was Mike Sherwood, splitting his leg of the relay at 1:14.2 after swimming a 32.4 as part of the medley relay.

NORM MACDERMID got under 30 seconds in the 50 yard freestyle for the first time at 29.9.
